

More than a hospital

Allowah is a ministry that belongs to all the Presbyterian Churches across NSW and the ACT. Allowah provides specialty care and support for kids with complex disabilities and medical needs in a way that seeks justice, shows mercy and make Jesus known.

“Upholding the value and worth of children made in the image of God with diverse gifts and abilities, including the capacity for their relationship with God and others.”

“Without this place, I honestly don't know what our family would do.”

- Adam, father of Sophie

We Need Your Help!

Allowah can only care for these kids and their families with the help of our wonderful supporters.

We need lots of prayer and financial support to keep this important ministry going.
